

NIKI BÖSCHENSTEIN

THE LITTLE GYMNAST

The gymnastics-for-children was from the beginning much too boring for the little Niki, and any sport that had to do with balls was -apart from football- not his thing. More than anything else interested, the then 5-year old child, to gymnastics training in the adjacent hall. When he was 12 years old, Niki felt the urge to get better soon, and posted first victories.

DISCIPLINE WRITTEN WITH CAPITAL D

Niki is fascinated by the feeling of floating in the air -in the moment of the jump- as well as the enthusiasm of the audience. His many accomplishments he owes years of back breaking work. Probably is not a coincidence that one of Niki's favorite event is "floor". About fitness, precision, concentration and orientation is the most challenging, and at the same time the basic of the six disciplines.

CROWD PLEASER

Niki's gymnastics motto is "Ready to Rock the Hall!" What he means to conjure up feelings in the gym and inspire the people with gymnastic feats. Niki for the artistic gymnastics is not just a competitive sport, but also entertainment.